

Contents . . .

Review Article

- Obesity: The Role of Child Mental Health Services
Lucy Walker & Andrew J. Hill 114

Original Article

- Gender as a Moderator of the Relationship between Child Exposure to the World Trade Centre Disaster and Behavioural Outcomes
William Bannon, Ellen R. DeVoe, Tovah P. Klein & Claudia Miranda 121

Parental Perceptions of the Assessment of Autistic Spectrum Disorders in a Tier Three Service

- Latha Hackett, Sabana Shaikh & Louise Theodosiou* 127

Outcomes of Cognitive Behaviour Therapy for Obsessive Compulsive Disorder in a Clinical Setting: A 10-Year Experience from a Specialist OCD Service for Children and Adolescents

- Eriko Nakatani, David Mataix-Cols, Nadia Micali, Cynthia Turner & Isobel Heyman* 133

The Paediatric Bipolar Hypothesis:

- The View from Australia and New Zealand
Peter Parry, Gareth Furber & Stephen Allison 140

Diet and Mental Health in Children

- Diane Tomlinson, Heather Wilkinson & Paul Wilkinson* 148

Practitioners' Toolkit

156

Book News

158

Aims and Scope

Child and Adolescent Mental Health is a peer reviewed journal that provides a forum for the exchange of clinical experience, ideas and research. Its principal aim is to foster good clinical practice. Wide-ranging in its coverage, CAMH includes research studies, descriptions of innovative techniques and both descriptions and evaluations of new service developments. The Editors aim to publish original research of high quality relevant to all aspects of child and adolescent mental health. In addition to publishing Original Articles and Review Articles, the journal includes special sections of broad based interest - Measurement Issues, Innovations in Practice, Practitioners' Toolkit, and Book News.

About the Association for Child and Adolescent Mental Health

The Association is a learned Society managed by an elected Council within a Constitution accepted by the membership. The Objects of the Association are the scientific study of all matters concerning the mental health and development of children through the medium of meetings and the establishment of The Journal of Child Psychology and Psychiatry, Child and Adolescent Mental Health, and the Occasional Papers series, in which scientific matters can be discussed, and clinical findings, research projects and results can be published. The Association is multi-disciplinary in nature, and exists to further all aspects of child and adolescent mental health. Membership of the Association does not confer professional status on any individual.

Members of the ACAMH receive Child and Adolescent Mental Health and also The Journal of Child Psychology and Psychiatry as part of their membership benefits. For details, please contact the Membership Secretary, Mrs Valerie Naddeo, at the ACAMH offices, St Saviour's House, 39/41 Union Street, London SE1 1SD, UK.